Teach Yourself Just About Anything!

TUTOR.COM ▶ Help with your homework is just a click away with Tutor.com. Live chat with tutors on a variety of homework topics, including math and science.

GALE COURSES ▶ Gale Courses offers a wide range of six week instructor led courses that you can take entirely online. Classes include computer instructions, test prep, and career training. Printable certificates are issued for each class that users complete.

LINKEDIN LEARNING ▶ LinkedIn Learning is an online learning service that offers thousands of video tutorials in technology, business, and creative skills. Learn how to use Microsoft products, WordPress, Java, Python, digital rendering and more.

MANGO LANGUAGES ▶ Mango Languages are online language courses available via the library. Mango offers classes for older students and adults in a variety of languages, including Spanish, German, Mandarin, Hindi, & more.

Available for Free Via the Internet (No Library Card Required)

The following resources are MOOCs - Massive Online Open Course catalogs. Take classes from universities, government institutions, and nonprofits using these websites.

KHAN ACADEMY
khanacademy.org

▶ Khan Academy is a free online education service that offers courses on a variety of subjects for all age levels. Young students can take math & humanities courses to build skills need for the classroom, while older students & adults can take advanced courses on everything from test prep to computer programming. Free registration is required.

COURSERA
coursera.org

▶ Coursera offers free online courses from universities and education centers. Geared mostly toward college age learners and above, Coursera provides challenging classes on diverse topics like finance, social psychology, and cryptography. Free registration is required.

OPEN CULTURE
openculture.com/freeonlinecourses

▶ Open Culture provides access to free audio and video courses from a variety of sources. Users can listen to lectures, watch selected movies and presentations, or read free ebooks from this site. Registration not required.

EDX
edx.org

► EdX is a collection of free online courses from a variety of schools and universities. EdX is a nonprofit organization that partners with schools like University of Arizona and Harvard University to provide free online classes and resources to the public. Many classes are self-led, available 24 hours a day, to allow you to learn at your own pace. Courses include English grammar, problem solving technology, and waste water treatment engineering, to name a few. Free registration is required.

CLASS CENTRAL
classcentral.com

► Class Central is a free class aggregator that collects information and links to no-cost classes from a variety of universities. Take anything from college pre-calculus to data visualization. Free registration is required.

GOOGLE DIGITAL GARAGE
learndigital.withgoogle.com /digitalgarage/courses

► Google offers an extensive catalog of free online courses focusing on business and technology. Some modules are available from Google, others are from open courses around the world. Most classes are free, with some certification pathways available for a fee. Registration required.
Free Technology Training Tools:

TYPING.COM
typing.com

► Typing.com offers free typing practice and typing exercises for all. Registration is required for some modules.

MOUSING AROUND
pbclibrary.org/mousing/mousercise.htm

► This is an old but useful website that provides mouse training and practice. A great tool for any new computer user. Registration not required.

MICROSOFT OFFICE
support.microsoft.com/en-us/training

► Sponsored by Microsoft, this website offers training videos and instructions for most Microsoft products, including Outlook, Excel, Word, Publisher, Access, and more. Registration not required.

ADOBE CREATIVE CLOUD
helpx.adobe.com/support /creative-cloud.html

► Sponsored by Adobe, Creative Cloud's Learn & Support pages are suitable for beginners and experienced Adobe users. Learn how to use Photoshop, Illustrator, and InDesign from this site. Registration not required.

CODE.ORG
code.org

► Learn how to code in a variety of computer languages, at any age, all for free. Free registration is required.

TECHBOOMERS
techboomers.com

► Geared toward baby boomers and senior learners. This site is full of videos and tutorials on using popular websites like Amazon, Ebay, Netflix, and Facebook. Registration not required.

YOUTUBE
youtube.com

► Youtube isn't just cat videos – search for software or a device to find a wealth of free training videos. Please note, anyone can upload material to Youtube, and videos are not reviewed for accuracy, so stick to the top results for each search.